Response to Request for Reconsideration

Receipt is acknowledged of applicant's amendment Request for Reconsideration filed February 3, 2005. Claims 1-13 are pending and an action on the merits is as follows.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the following grounds of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Babock et al. (U.S. 5,864,176) in view of Eaton (U.S. 5,930,893).

Babock discloses a method and electro-mechanical assembly for testing chips comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitations, except for the use of subjecting the layer ((102); column 13, lines 20-25) between the heat sink and electric heater to a crack-healing temperature cycle in which the layer is melted at least partially and re-solidified.

3. However, Eaton teaches the use of a thermally conductive layer between two matting surfaces, which under goes a crack-healing temperature cycle in which the layer is melted at least partially and re-solidified.

Given the teachings of Eaton, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the matting layer of Babcock with a thermally conductive layer between two matting surfaces which under goes a crack-healing temperature cycle in which the layer is melted at least partially and re-solidified.

Doing so would provide a thermally efficient interface, which will reduce the number of air pockets between the matting surfaces.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed February 3, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's states, "Babcock also does not disclose that any stress cracks will even be induced in the layer 102 when the heat sink and electric heater are subjected to multiple temperature changes in a chip tester." Also "In Eaton, there are no cracks in the thermally conductive layer which is melted."

Babcock discloses cracks in layer (102) [column 13; lines 13-20]; and Eaton teaches preventing problems associated with cracks [column 1; line 65 through column 2; line 4, also column 3; lines 4-7].

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
